

VALLEY PRESS CLUB

Dear fellow professional:

A great deal has changed since the Valley Press Club was founded 46 years ago. In 1962 there were no digital cameras, Internet blogs, satellite transponders or Google - only a handful of good journalism schools, some hunt-and-peck typewriters and a few 16mm film cameras. Technology has made our profession better, faster and more accessible to more people. That's a good thing.

The Valley Press Club is committed to the highest standards of honest, fair and balanced journalism. For years, the club has organized educational workshops for local journalists and members of associated professions, held luncheons with provocative newsmakers and awarded dozens of scholarships to local high school students pursuing careers in journalism. Please consider becoming a member and help us promote quality journalism. Your $20 membership goes a long in helping us pursue our mission.

Thank you.
The Board of Directors,
Valley Press Club
